Chief Gallagher has issued an order which he hopes will result in an improvement of the situation. He notified Captain Haze at the city jail to order eight of the patrolmen on the day shift to report in citizens' clothes to the chief of detectives at 7 o'clock tonight for duty. They are to be distributed over the city in the residence parts where it is believed the "reign of crime" is likely to continue. It is directed by the chief that this special detail shall be continued until something is accomplished. e continued until something is accomplished. The waylaying and shooting of Craig Mc-Quaid by "the long and the short man" is the crime that brought Chief Gallagher to recognize that a reign of terror really does exist and that he must meet it by some sys-tem not usual in the direction of the department. The police have laid all of these highway robberies at the door of "the long and the short man," who seem to come into $2.95. publicity in almost every city in the country whenever it is afflicted with a season of highway crimes. Just which pair of all those numerous long and short men who are doing crime on the streets of the cities of the country Omaha is harboring at the present time, cannot be indicated. However, the victims of the rabbers all agree by their descriptions that one of the highwaymen is long of stature and the other is short.

In spite of the gravity of the situation Chief Gallagher tries to make out that Ocualis having less highway robberies, burglaries and other crimes than any city of its popusaying that crime strikes a city at almos regular seasons with the same regularity almost as spring and fall come. To prevent this he thinks impossible, but to cope with he conditions when they arise, he says there is a certain successful way—by adequate police protection, which means a larger and better organized force where court injunctions do not interfere with the co-operation of all branches of the depart-

The chief thinks he ought to have sixty more men to furnish the city with proper police protection. He says there were on duty last night only twenty-four field men to guard the beats of the city, which cover twenty-four square miles of territory. In other words, each policeman's beat covered a square mile where they were equally por-

"Anybody knows that a policeman's pro-tection can amount to little where he has much territory to cover," said Chie: Gallegher, "and consequently it is no won der that the department cannot successfully cope with crime. Even with my full comple ment of men I am handloapped, but leaves of absence and sickness constantly keep the present force reduced, so that both day and night shifts are always lacking in men. beats that some of the patrolmen must cover are simply burdensome and very long Where a policeman should not be expected to take care of more than five blocks on important beats, he is compelled by the present condition of things to in some instances walk twenty-eight blocks in an hou and pull up the box at either end of the beat. But there is no remedy for it and so the department must struggle along in the best way it can until it can get more men.

Campaign Against Suspicious People A campaign against suspicious character was begun yesterday afternoon and the tota number of arrests up till midnight last night numbered sixty-eight, a larger number for one day than for months. The men were mostly secured from the card tables of sec-ond-rate salcons. They have no visible means of support and have been living from some unknown source during the winter. The police officials think that some of them know more than they innocently about recent ill-doing in this city.

The young women of the Omaha Turnvereig have been busily engaged for some time in arranging for the fair to be given the week of March 6 to 13 for the benefit of their German school gymnasium. The spacious hall of the Turners will be quite transformed into an old-time "Jahrmarkt." Useful and faucy articles and the wares of different nations will be on sale and the booths will be decorated and the attendants costumed accord ingly. There will be a gypsy tent with a real gypsy fortune teller, a popular voting contest and a number of attractions of the Midway order. The "Old Curiosity Shop" is marvel and would make Dickens stare and ause Barnum a twinge of envy. Then there will be an old-fashioned "Gast-stube" and a Japanese room, in which refreshments will be served by "Wiener Madel" and little be served by "Wiener Madel" and little Japanese maids respectively. The commit-tee has prepared a program for the entertain-ment of the visitors for each evening and there will always be good music. Sunday the opening night, will be devoted to theatricals and a fine German comedy will be presented. Monday evening will be wheel-men's night and a program especially interesting to them has been arranged and all members of the League of American Wheel-men, as well as of the different wheel clubs, have been invited to attend. On Tuesday night the actives of the Omaha Turnverein will give an exhibition of athletic prowess. Wednesday has been designated as "German Wednesday has been designated as "German night" and invitations have been extended to all the German societies and organizations.
The program will be appropriate to the occasion and the Orpheus Singing society will contribute several numbers. On Thursday night the South Side and Bohemian Turners will give exhibitions of calisthenics and gym-nastics. Friday night has been set apart for the children and the little ones will not only entertain, but be entertained, as the beautiful doll booth, the fish pond and countless other things will be a source of delight to them. This will close the fair proper, but Saturday evening there is to be a hop for the busy workers and their friends

Judge Gordon Gives Them a Final Folar Plexus Punch.

UNDER CLASSIFICATION OF LOTTERIES

Any Machine Which Retails Articles of Unequal Value is Prohibited by the Statutes of Nebraska.

Police Judge Gordon delivered a broadside at the nickel-in-the-slot machine yesterday. Ed Peterson and Charles Nordeaberg were tried in police court for "carrying on a lottery and game of chance." The lottery and game of chance was nothing else than the operating of a slot machine. The defendants admitted that they operated the device, but contended that, by reason of giving a cigarette each time whether or not the player secured "jacks up or better," they placed themselves beyond the pale of the statute relating to lotteries. It was shown by the evidence that at times the player, upon depositing his nickel, received only cigarette and at other times checks good in trade for from 15 cents to $6. It was upon the fact that merchandise of some value was always given that the defense relied for acquittal. In an extended opinion Judge Gordon found that there was probable cause to believe the defendants guilty and remanded them to the district court for rial in bonds of $500 each. In passing upon the evidence Judge Gordon quoted numerous accepted authorities on what constituted a lottery. From volume xiii American Encyclopedia of Law, he cited the following: "A lottery is a sort of gaming contract by which for a valuable consideration one may by favor obtain a prize of value superior to the amount of value of that which he risks." The word lottery embraces the elements has given out 243 articles of clothing, twenty-eight pairs of shoes and twenty-nine baskets investment of money or something of value some greater amount of money or thirg of value." (United States against Wallis 58,

Will Be Charged with Breaking Into the Postoffice at Callaway, This State_One Man May Have a Record.

Robbers.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy United States partner of R. A. Holmes, arrested two men are in the county jail for safe keep-The attempt to rob the postoffice at Callaway was not very successful. The burglars gained admittance into the office and succeeded in drilling a hole in the top of the safe, but did not get it open. Some stamps and a small sum of money was all that was stolen. It was at once suspected that the crime was committed by a couple of tramps who had been hanging about the town and the Callaway officials started in pursuit of them. The suspected parties were appre-hended near Broken Bow. They were the two men who were brought to the city yes-terday.

The prisoners were immediately turned over to the United States authorities. They were taken to Grand Island, where they were given a hearing before United States Com-missioner Bode. Sufficient evidence was adduced to warrant holding them to the federal grand jury and they were consequently bound over. They will be held in jail here until the grand jury is called at the May term of the federal court in this city. THEY HAVE A RECORD.

The Tyndall postoffice robbery was a lucrative one for the crooks, as it netted them about $700 in stamps and money. The burglars were traced by their foot tracks in the snow for many miles out of town and before the tracks were lost a description of the men was secured from people who had seen them The men were traced to this city. On February 8 one of them was located at 1156 North Sixteenth street and was arrested. He gave the name of R. D. Holmes. None of the stolen stamps were found in his possession, but he had considerable money. Since then Holmes has been taken to Dakota for trial. CHARGED WITH OTHER CRIMES.

At the time Holmes was arrested it was believed that his partner was here with him and some time was spent in shadowing him in the hope of getting the other man. attempts were unsuccessful. From the descriptions that were obtained, however, it is believed that the partner was the man Allen, who was brought to the city yesterday. It is thought that he left the city shortly after his arrival with Holmes and that he proceeded at once to continue his criminal work in towns in this state.

The Callaway postoffice robbery is not the only crime that is charged against the two men. It is believed that they also cracked the safe in the B. & M. depot at Gratton about two weeks ago and a safe in a Unica be charged with the Callaway robbery, however, as the federal authorities believe that they have a good case against them. Believes They Are South Dakota Postoffice ALLEN AND LYMAN PLACED BEHIND BARS Temple Israel bazaar. While here she will remple Israel bazaar. While here and will visit the home of every Jewish family in the city. She is a young woman of marked culture and is fascinating in her manner.

To a Bee reporter she said: "First of all you must understan! that my visit here is not for business reasons, but for benevolent motives. The objects of the society I represent are wholly benevolent, the main purpose being to place the best works on purpose being to place the best works on religion, history and philosophy in Jewish homes and among such Gentiles as may de-Marshal Barber brought in a man sire them, for a number of attorneys and who is believed to have been the other professional men not Jews have our translations in their libraries."

The Jewish Publication society was orin this city about a month ago charged with ganized some ten years ago for the purthe robbery of the postoffice at Tyndall, S. D., pose of securing in English translations, on the night of January 31. The man, who gives the name of J. H. Allen, is charged with breaking into the postoffice at Callaway books didactic, philosophical and historical, with breaking into the postoffice at Callaway with Judalsm as the point of view. The aim last Tuesday night in company with Jce Lyof the organization is purely benevolent and educational. The funds for its support are man, who was also brought to the city. The derived largely from wealthier members of the Jewish faith in the eastern cities. A nominal membership fee is charged to all members for which they receive in return all the works issued by the society. These works exceed much in value each year the membership paid. The society has now over 5,000 members which it is expected to increame to 10 000

The propaganda which the Jewish Publication society is making in the direction of a Jewish literature has met with remarkable success. Mrs. Scherman who has been with the society four years, is confident that ulti-mately the works will go into nearly every Jewish home in America. A large number of non-Jews who are interested in the history of this wonderful people, are regular members of the society.

Mrs. R. H. Davies has veturned from New York City with a very complete line of fine millinery and hair goods and can be found at her new location, 1511 Douglas street.
